SHAREing & CAREing, an organization devoted to maintaining and restoring normal quality of life for women who have been diagnosed with breast or ovarian cancer, will celebrate its 12th anniversary with a benefit and fundraising silent auction at Riccardo's by the Bridge, Astoria on November 15. SHAREing & CAREing was founded May 7, 1994 by Anna Kril, Carol Scarano, Lucille Hartmann and Mary Demakos to serve and support women diagnosed with and treated for breast and other cancers exclusive to women. Among the services SHAREing & CAREing has provided are transportation for women undergoing treatment, pharmaceutical assistance and hair prosthetics, breast cancer educational outreach to schools, churches and civic organizations and support group meetings. More than 7,000 women and their families have been assisted by SHAREing & CAREing. "Many of them have said without SHAREing & CAREing they really wouldn't know where to go or what to do," Kril said. "We deliver services from the initial shock of diagnosis through the trauma of surgery and/or treatment, with paperwork and encounters with insurance carriers. We challenge the discriminatory practices of some employers and deal with the personal humiliation and blow to self-esteem that result from breast cancer diagnosis and treatment. We accompany breast cancer patients along every step of the way that leads to new lives as breast cancer survivors. We're unique, and nationally, I think, SHAREing & CAREing is one of the best of its kind."
