Commerce Lollipop Color Campaign Heats Up

Assisted by TD Bank (formerly Commerce Bank) staffers, Green and Purple Lollipop candidates took their campaign to the streets of New York City recently. The race is tight, with thousands of votes cast on the Web and in person.

Commerce Bank was acquired by TD Bank Financial Group, merging the operations of Commerce Bank and TD Banknorth under one name, TD Bank, “America’s Most Convenient Bank”. With the new look of TD Bank, a new lollipop color is needed, and TD Banks wants the public’s help in choosing that color. No matter which color wins, the lollipop will be flavored cherry, which the bank’s surveys show is America’s favorite lollipop flavor.

Commerce staffers recently held a Decision '08: Pick Your Pop campaign rally in New York, featuring the larger-than-life Green and Purple Lollipop candidates discussing their positions with the public. New Yorkers had the opportunity to interact with the lollipops and cast their votes. The campaign is heating up and the lollipops are excited to win over voters. Votes can be cast in person or online at commerceonline.com/pickyourpop.

“We want to be available to families when they need us most.”
