

Snore No More

"Obstructive sleep apnea is treatable. With today's minimally invasive treatment options, no person should suffer the symptoms of unrest."

Surinder S. Malhotra, MD
Board Certified
Otolaryngologist

Chronic snoring, headaches upon waking, fatigue, irritability, poor concentration... these may be symptoms of a serious condition called obstructive sleep apnea, which causes a complete stoppage of breathing intermittently during sleep. Now, there's no need for you or a loved one to continue to suffer from this debilitating condition.

Dr. Surinder S. Malhotra, a board certified otolaryngologist at Mount Sinai Hospital of Queens, has vast experience correcting obstructive sleep apnea both medically and surgically. A pioneer in the use of minimally invasive, endoscopic sinus surgery, Dr. Malhotra has helped to improve the quality of life and health for men and women with sleep apnea.
