QSAC Begins Annual Turkey Drive

Quality Services for the Autistic Community (QSAC), with support from Astoria/Long Island City Kiwanis, Saint Andrew Avellino Church and the Saint Vincent DePaul Society, recently began their annual Turkey and Food Drive. More than $1,750 and numerous food donations of turkeys and canned goods will help families in need throughout the community this Thanksgiving. Major contributors to the drive include Paul Vallone, candidate for City Council in the 19th District of Northeast Queens, QSAC Board of Directors Second Vice President Paul Halvatzis of Amorelli Realty, Vallone & Vallone, LLP., Peter Cherry of First Central Savings Bank, Vincent Gianelli of Durite Realty, Dennis O'Sullivan, Esq.,

Mike Tighe of State Farm Insurance, Geri Katsoulakis of G & G Realty, Jack Hogan of Quinn Fogarty Funeral Home, Sean Straw from Indigo Restaurant, Alex Tembelis of Carrullo Real Estate, Joanne Ferrari from Keller Williams and Gema Schiffman from Depot Furniture.

QSAC, which recently celebrated its 30-year anniversary, is one of the area's largest agencies dedicated specifically to autism. QSAC has received the Mental Hygiene Services Award for Excellence from New York City and recognition from the Queens Borough President and the Town of Hempstead for contributions to individuals with autism and their families.
